Image quality like never before

PHASE ONE & ALPA FINE-ART ALLIANCE

Phase One and ALPA have been working for decades to provide fine art photographers with the ultimate camera systems.

The A-series combines the finest components across lenses, mirrorless body, digital backs and software. It is the first in its class to introduce exclusive workflow features based on lens factory calibrations and new software processing.

This makes A-series not only the highest quality system, but also much easier and more fun to use when capturing medium format images.

“Fine art photography – Capturing great images based solely on the vision of the photographer.”

Edge-to-edge perfection

Each A-series lens delivers incredible edge-to-edge sharpness with the ability to perfectly resolve the quality of a full frame medium format sensor up to 80 megapixels.

The A-series lens collection has been specifically selected and factory calibrated to get the most out of each medium format sensor. The lenses range from ultra-wide 23mm, wide 35mm and all-round 70mm.

LENS FACTORY CALIBRATION – EASIER THAN EVER

The new Phase One lens factory calibration is individually made for each A-series system allowing photographers to simply select the lens and start shooting.

Photographers familiar with having to manually create and apply LCC profiles will instantly know how big of an improvement this is; and for those who don't know, A-series replaces the need to learn.

With A-series you simply start capturing medium format images without having to focus on anything else other than creating something truly great.

CAPTURE PILOT 1.8 – WIRELESS FUN

For A-series we built a new version of Capture Pilot allowing you to check current selection of A-lens directly from your iOS device. Once images are captured, they are wirelessly displayed in Capture Pilot, allowing you to validate focus, exposure and composition.

Furthermore, the A250 has the ability to stream Live View wirelessly which is great for focus assist and composition. By using the new ALPA smart device holder, it is also possible to mount both iPhones and iPads directly on the camera.

Choose your system

The Phase One A-series is a powerful and compact mirrorless camera system that can deliver up to 80-megapixel captures. It features specially calibrated wide and all-round focal length Rodenstock lenses. Its compact medium format proportions and ergonomic rosewood grip means it is comfortable to handhold for extended periods of time.

The A-series also comes with the reassurance of a 5-year warranty that covers the entire camera system and lenses.
